

The Eastern Gutter.. aka sharks lounge room. If sharks are your thing then you have come to the right place. At times there can be up to 70 Grey Nurse sharks in the gutter, not to mention the ones that you don't see (The ones that are watching you). To be part of this incredible and totally natural event will blow you away! The best place to observe the sharks would be at the South East end of the gutter, just at the front of the cave. As the gutter runs from a high North East point dropping down towards the South East end, it creates a ramp like structure which the sharks like to 'parade' down. It's a phenomenal site, one not to be missed!

ENTRY: You can get in to the water by a giant stride from the stern then swim to the bow.

DESCENT: Descend the anchor line holding the line all the way down and back up.

DEPTH: Average 22 metres throughout the dive.

BOTTOM TIMES: Can be up to 25 - 30 minutes.

SAFETY STOPS: A safety stop at 5metres for 5 minutes is required for this dive.

DANGER: Current can be running hard, so you should hold the mooring line on your descent all the way to the bottom. Visibility can sometimes be down to 2 metres or so but it can also be up to 25 metres+ Depth can also be a danger as you could run low or run out of air.

IF YOU: Come off the mooring line: Do a normal ascent to the safety stop at 5 metres. Do a 5-min stop, surface, establish positive boyancy, signal the boat and deploy your safety saugage. Wave your arm if you need help or your safety saugage and we will come and get you as soon as we can.
